

the closed environment of a plane and the propensity for cell phone abuse is a recipe for lost tempers. it has the potential to ingnite an already volatile situation.(small seats, delays, etc.) the fact that a person has contact with the ground has no bearing on security..the flight crew must maintain "control" or all security is worthless. PLEASE, let's not second guess the public's behavior and manners.....PASS ON THIS!